

Enrichment

Cages, racks for conventional husbandry of animals

Enrichment

Our bedding and nesting range has grown organically over many years, as experience and research have made clear the requirements for different species, strains and research techniques. Today, we have the widest selection of bedding and nesting materials, allowing users the choice that best suits their requirements. We strongly believe that provision of quality bedding and nesting materials constitutes the very foundation of good animal welfare.

Each type of bedding and nesting material in our range has been selected with care to ensure its suitability for the research environment, especially where strict GLP standards need to be met.
